Report on Career counseling and Opportunities in History

on 14-12-2021

Create History with History Subject – A career opportunities & orientation Program was organized by the department of History on 14-12-2021 to B.A Students to create awareness among the students on opportunities and employability through History as a subject.

Service commission job is a dream for every graduate, either it may be UPSC or APPSC. So, most of the students are opting coaching for job rather than higher studies. But major percentage of the students are choosing history as optional subject, even though they are from science background. This itself indicates the importance and significance in field of competitive exams. On the other hand, history is not being opted for higher studies in the present scenario. The reason is students have not awareness about the career opportunities with history.

Keeping this in mind, the Department of History arranged a career opportunities and orientation program with Ajay garu, to clear all the doubts of students.

The session was divided into two parts, higher studies information was given in first and career opportunities and history as optional service commission exam were covered in second session.

He motivated students higher studies in history by explaining career opportunities with history post-graduation certificate. He told the students about scarcity of history faculty as very few number of students were opting history for higher studies. He suggested that more opportunities may be available for upcoming history post graduates. He also told that, in this pandemic situation, Students may not get opportunity as faculty in coaching centers and They can utilize you tube channel for uploading their videos.

Then he turned his speech to career counseling, regarding method of preparation, prime organization information for pursuing PG course, fees structure in various universities, merit scholarships and their eligibility criteria etc.

About 100 students were benefitted with this program. Students impressed a lot, this program definitely inspires the students and helps to choose a suitable way at next level of study.
