1. Kakatiyas unified the distinct upland and lowland cultures of Telugu lands.

2. Kakatiyas period also saw the construction of reservoirs for irrigation in the uplands called "tanks" many which are still used today.

3. They recruited peasants into the military which resulted in a new warrior class and provided the social mobility.

4. Kakatiya era also saw the development of distinct style of architecture.

- 1) The Kakatiya dynasty (IAST: kakatiya) was an Indian dynasty that ruled most of eastern Deccan region in present-day India between 12th and 14th centuries.
- 2) Their territory comprised much of the present-day Telangana and Andhra Pradesh and parts of eastern Karnataka, northern Tamil Nadu and southern Odisha.
- 3) Early Kakatiya rulers served as feudatories to Rashtrakutas and western Chalukyas for more than two centuries.
- 4) They assumed sovereignty under Prataparudra I in 1163 CE by suppressing other Chalukya subordinates in the Telangana region.
